[From Chamber's Jonnal.] The Blind Harpist.

Not such a very long time ago—but when there were no railways, when steam-navigation was in its infancy, and the electric telegraph not even dreamed of—a journey to Cornwall was quite a formidable undertaking; while native inhabitants of that country regarded the more distant portion of the Island population in the light of foreigners. Fluctuations were as rife then in mining concerns as they are known to be in these adventurous dava—fortnnes were made, and fortunes were rous days—fortnnes were made, and fortunes were lost; and when the latter reverse befell Mr. Traher, a great mining speculator, attended with many distressing circumstances, he had not strength of mind to bear up against calamity, but speedily sank beneath the blow, leaving three orphan chil-dren totally destitute. Harry, the eldest, a youth just about to leave so col, obtained, through the Influence of friends, an appointment in a mercantile house in India, whither he at once repaired. His sisters were considered particularly in luck's way, when a distant relation, respectably settled in London, offered to receive the poor girls, and to retain one of them as nursery-governess in her own family, providing a similar situation for the other. way, when a distant relation, tesper cash, section in London, offered to receive the poor girls, and to retain one of them as nursery-governess in her own family, providing a similar situation for the other. It was a sad parting between the brothers and sisters; for India then seemed a vast deal further off than it appears now, and faint were the hopes they antertained of meeting again in this world. Acc. entertained of meeting again in this world. Acd, indeed, these three did never meet again; for Mary, the cidest of the two girls, in process of time, became the wife of a thriving London merchant, and died while their only daughter was still a child. Ethel Traher, Harry's favorite sister, also became a will, but her conviced displaced her calleton who Ethel Traher, Harry's favorite sister, also became a wife; but her marriage displeased her relation, who pronounced her positive conviction, that so pretty acreature might have done far better. Mary—or Mrs. Danvers, as she ought to be called —more than joined in the displeasure occasioned by Ethel's matrimonial choice; and not only cherished anger and unforgiveness in her own breast, but instilled the same feelings into the mind of her hasband, and even taught her child to look down on "the Mordaunts." With deep emotion, however, Mrs. Mor-daunt read in the public prints the announcement of this unforgiving sister's decease; she yearned to lasp the motherless girl, her niece, and Etty's sousin, to her becom. But so decided had been the rebuffs of Mr. Danvers, that honest pride and helf-respect would not permit one of the family to approach the rich man's door. Miss Danvers approach the first mans door. Miss Danvers reigned supreme there, the spoiled child of luxury and indulgence—proud, arrogant, and nnfeeling, but strikingly handsome in person, and agreeable in manner. She did not even know where the Mordaunis were to be found—she made it a matter conscience to cut all such disgraceful connecas, and the more particularly as they were resient in the same city.

They rented the upper part of a small honse in a genteel street; and Mr. Mordaunt's pupils were principally in the vicinity, with the exception of some schools in the suburbs. His emolument was certain and regular; and although he had frequently complained of a singular weakness in his eves, attended by some pain, no serious apprehen.

And that was her answer, with the smile of an angel—"Is that all!!" I feared by your sadness it was worse. Let these things be taken—all this splender, let it go! All his leisure time was acvoted to the improvement of Etty's docite mind. She learned everything readily save drawing-that she could not manage; and her father, halt in jest, half in earnest, shook his head, and called it a "deficiency of intellect:" and Etty herself, the gentlestand most humble-minded of human beings, lamented this "deficiency," because it vexed her dear father. But, as if to make amends for the want she deplored, nature had gifted Etty with a remarkable fine voice—thrilling, rich, and melancholy. A harp, which was her poor mother's only relie of better days, stood in one corner of their sitting-room; and not only had Etty learned to accompany her voice on this old harp very respectably, but Mr. Mordaunt also was a performer; and what with his brilliant touch and Etty's sweet warb-

Mr. Mordaunt had never hitherto consented to receive pupils at his own home, not liking this infringement of domestic privacy; but on the urgent solicitation of a former pupil, who had materially benefitted by his instructions, Mr. Mordaunt waved his objections, and gave a few lessons, always in the evening, to a young man whose peenliar circumstances provented the reception of a master in his father's dwelling. This youth was the second son of Mr. Rutherford, the senior partner of Mr. Danvers. But though she knows how to employ these to the greatest advantage, she by no means depends on them for snecess. Art heightened by genius, and genius assisted in the highest degree by art, are apparent in every effort she makes. The bewitching Amalia Patti delighted us more than ever. It was difficult to tell whose pleasure was the greatest—the lady sor that whose pleasure was the greatest—the lady's or that of the audience. A silver bell could not ring clearer than did some of the notes of this lady. She sings with a great deal of sonl, fully abandoned to the effort, and yet it seemed without effort, for there was a perfect ease and repose in every part. She certainly is one of the sweetest ballad singers that ever wisted our city. In short, he singers that ever visited our city. In short, her mellifluous volce is a sweet spontaneous musical outpouring of sound that must be dictated by Nature herself. Strakosche surpassed himself, were that possible."

COMMERCE OF THE UNITED STATES.—The Secretary of the Treasury has completed the statistics of Commerce and Navigation for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1855, and we find a summary of it in the Journal of Commerce, which remarks that "a careful study of it will afford the best possible relief for the foolish panic which has prevailed in some parts of our country during the last few weeks." The foreign imports at all the ports of the United States (including, of course, California and Oregon) for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1855, were $261,382,960, against $305,780,253 30, 1855, were $261,882,980, against $305,780,253 or the preceding year, showing a decline of $44,-997,293. The total experts from the United States 307,293. The total experts from the United States to foreign ports for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1855, were $285,156,845, against $268,141,064 for the preceding year, showing a decline of only $3,084,218. It will be seen from this that while for the year 1854, the imports exceeded the experts $27,500,189—for the last year the experts exceeded the imports $13,779,$85.

The tables show an increase during the last year of $10,106,864 in the imports of free goods, but a falling off of $51,253,807 in dutiable merchandisc.

The year ending June 30, 1853, shows an increase over the previous year of $55,-023,305: and the year 1854 showed an increase over 1855 of $57,801,606; making a gain of $92,834,911 in two years. For the last year the decline, as already stated, is $44,387,293, which brings the imports below the total for the year a853—4.

While the imports for last year have fallen below even the total for 1852-3, the exports are nearly forty-five millions greater than for that year. Year the total exports of specie for the year, $53,-957,418 were of domestic production, and $2,289,- ad mixtures, which last year went into the nnenn-merated total.

The falling off in the imports of cotton is very great and extends to all descriptions of goods. The difficulty of seperating printed cottons from other piece goods, has induced a change in the official statement, whereby all piece goods are included.

On the Place du Trone we passed a regiment of soldiers coming in from Vincennes. Many of them were beardless, soft-checked boys, learning their first steps to Sevastopol. DEATH OF BISHOP VANDEVELDE.—It will grieve the numerous friends of this learned, amiable and devoted prelate, to hear that a dispatch was received in this city yesterday, announcing his death at Natchez, by yellow fever. Some three or four weeks ago Bishop Vandevelde met with an accident hy which one of his legs was severely fractured. Scarcely had be begun to recover from the effects of this serious injury, when the desolating past of the South, which still lingers along the region washed by the lower Mississippi, attacked bim and removed nim from his abundant labors and great "fight of afflictions," to the rest and reward which was ever his supreme and ruling aspiration. Many are the friends of all denominations who honored and loved Bishop Vandevelde during his residence in this city, where he came to reside more than a quarter of a century ago, and dier's gear, with almost a certain doom in the present war. The conscription is well called the peasants' nightmare. The rich may buy off their sons, but the poor have no hope but in the Vir-gin. But all this merits treatment from a more graphic pen than that I hold. We often meet often waking tender-tooled in their soldier soces, some looking up grand in their little dignity of gun and knap-sack, while others seem to think of something left behind. One of those younglings came here a little while ago to bid his sister, one of the servants, adieu. He was off for the war, all flushed with pride. Now Victorine is in mourning far him. I shall pour forcet how she tore off her during his residence in torserry, where a go, and reside more than a quarter of a century ago, and where be labored until, six or seven years since, he was appointed Catbolic Bishop of Chicago, whence his ore request and chiefly from consideration SALE OF THE HIPPOROME STOCK.—The whole of the paraphanalia of the old hippodreme, consisting of wild animals, camels, ostriches, borses, wagons, trappings, &c., were disposing of at auction in New York on Monday. It was estensibly the property of the celebrated showman, S. B. B. Howes, although it is said that Barnum owned considerable of the stock. Howes has been the most successful manager in the country, net even excepting Barnum himself, and at this time he ranks among the most wealthy men in New York. It seems that be bas at last accumulated sufficient of the yellow dross to render bim content, and hertires from the field to private life. The famous white Polar bear, the only one we believe in the country, was purchased by Mr. E. M. Sbields, of this city, for $450. Its estimated worth with the cage, is $1,300. The Messrs. Mabies purchased severat of the elephants, among them the celebrated "baby" upon which Tem Thumbu used to ride when exhibiting in Barnum's museum and menagerie.

Why Females Suffer in Health.

THE MARRIED WOMAN'S

Private Medical Companion, BY DR. A. M. MAURICEAU, PROFESSOR OF DISEASES OF WOMEN. One Hundreth Edition (500,000) 18mo., pp. 250.

A standard work of established reputation, found class ed in the catalogues of the great Trade Sales of New York, Philadelphia, and other citics, and sold hy the principal booksellers in the United States. Every woman can here discover, by comparing her own symptoms with those described, the nature, characown symptoms with those described, the nature, charac-ter, and canse of her complaint, and be spared much anxiety and suffering, as well as the unpleasantness of making known to, or making inquiry of, a physician in respect to the numberless ailments to which she is sub-ject. The wife about becoming a mother has often need of instruction and advice in respect to her situa-ion, which she will here find. This book tells her what to the metter, and tells her what to do for it, in simple is the matter, and tells her what to do for it, in simple but chaste words, and such as she can understand.

Those suffering from obstructions or irregularities p enliar to the female system, or from prolapses uters (fall-ling of the womb,) or from fivor albus, will each find in its pages the means of prevention, amelioration, and even a medical man in respect to complaints peculiar to the female only.

In a copy of "The Married Woman's Private Medical Companion," every female has a physician that know and describes her every symptom, feeling, and ailmen, and which she can consult at all times without violence

DE. A. M. MAURICEAU—My Dear Sir. My wife has been perceptibly sinking for some three years or more, in consequence of great anguish and sultering some months before and during confinement; every successive one more and more debilitated and prostrated ber, putting her life in imminent danger, and which was on the last occasion despaired of. I supposed that this state of things was inevitable, and resigned myself to meet the worst. I heard your book highly spoken of, as containing some matters reaching my case. On its receipt and perusal I cannot express to you the relief it afforded my distressed mind, and the joy its pages imparted to my wife, on learning that the great discovery of M. M. Desomeaux provided a remedy. It opened a prospect to me which I little conceived was possible. But for this, ere another year would have passed over my head, in all human probability my wife would have been in her grave and my children left motherless.

In her grave and my chimeres hat modelless.

FOR WHEELING .- The Athermarle, Captain Jelly, Is e pioneer in a regular line of packets between this port and Wheeling, and leaves this evening. We hope ar merchants will encourage the line and keep it np For Sr. Louis.-The fine steamer St. Clair, Captain Barter, leaves for St. Louis this morning at 10 o'clock, from the city wharf. A steamboat has been invented in France which as sctually traveled both by land and water. FOR CINCINNATI .- The champion Telegraph No. 3, In

FOR ST. LOUIS .- The fast steamer Northerner, Capt erwin, is the regular packet for St. Louis to-day at 12 'ciock, from Portland.

FOR MEMPHIS .- The Tishomingo leaves this evening or Memphls. This is a trade that should be sustained, and none deserve encouragement more than Captain Briscoc and his accommodating and gentlemanly clerks, Levi and De Hart, who have, by their untiring exertions, ouilt up a trade which only requires the aid of our mer chants to make it pay well. We hope to see the Tisho lingo go out with a full trip of passengers and freight. FOR EASTPORT, TUSCUMBIA, AND FLORENCE .- The plendid regular packet John Tompkins, Captain Tom White, leaves as above at 3 o'clock this evening. More rteous and gentiemanly officers cannot be found han Captain White and the cierk, E. T. Wolfolk. The fine steamer Shotwell was detained vester law account of the rain, but will get off this morning at 0 o'clock. Go on board in time. FOR BOWLINGGREEN .- The fine little steamer Harrison idges, Captain Coombs, is the regular packet for dreen river to-morrow evening from the city wharf. FOR KENTUCKY RIVER .- The regular packet Biue Wing No. 2, Captain Sanders, leaves this evening at 3 o'clock for Frankfort and Munday's Landing.

The St. Louis Intelligencer, of the 15th, says: NATIONATION.—We continue to report the Mississippi, at this point, falling fast. Weather delightful. Six feet water to Kockuk; thirty Inches on the Lower Rapids; four feet and a half in the Himois; nine feet to Cairo.—The Ohio continues to rise; Monday there were eight feet water in the canal, and six feet on the falls. Cumberland river was rising rapidly on Monday, with nine feet water on the shoais.

THE WENDNA.—In another column we publish the manifest of this steamer, sunk above Jefferson City.—It will be seen that her cargo was a large and valuable one. We learn from Mr. Turner, the cierk (to whom we return thanks for the copy of manifest) that the argo is a total loss, excepting about 100 sacks wheat, 100 sacks dried fruit, and 50 dry hides. The accident occurred at four o'clock Saturniay exemples. The boat was proved to four o'clock Saturniay exemples. acks dried fruit, and 50 dry hides. The accident oc-curred at four o'clock Saturday evenling. The boat was toing ahead with a full allowance of steam, and in the issual channel, when she struck a stump or snag, which ore the whole bottom out, and sunk her in less than a ninute, in nine feet water. The passengers will be down on the Kdinburz, which passed Washington at 8 o'clock esterday morning. The Wenoma was insured in this ity for $10,000—not far from her full value. She has lone a great deal of business, and was quite a favorite, and we are sorry to hear of her loss.

November Term. Jefferson Circuit Court.

HON. W. P. BULLOCK, JUDGE. Zoon and wife, plaintiffs, vs. Bland, defendant. Plaintiffs alleged that defendant was the owner f a house and lot on Water street, in Louisville that he had suffered it to be and remain in a dilap idated condition, the wall cracked, and was ready to tall, and one of the walls did fall on plaintiff's wife and greatly injured her, to the plaintiff's dam-wife and greatly injured her, to the plaintiff's damage $5,000.

Defendant answered and said, he had leased the said house and lot for five years, and gave up possession to the tenant; that, at the time he leased, the house was in good repair—strong, and well-built, and not likely to fall; that the lease was in full force when the wall fell; that the tenant covenanted to repair; that a freshet and storm injured the wall during the term of the lease, and that he was not liable, &c.

By the Court-I am satisfied the answer is good. The defendant negatives completely any liability on his part. He parted with the possession of the promises for five years, and two years afterwards the walls were injured, and fell during the term. The ordinary use of the property did not tend to produce this result, and walls were strong and good when let. Wood for defendant. Henshaw, Ward & Co. vs. Bull & Co. Plaintiffs instituted cuit on a bill of T. Spurrie Wood for defendant.
Henchaw, Ward & Co. vs. Bull & Co.
Plaintiffs instituted cuit on a bill of exchange against Bull & Co., and Wm. T. Spurrier's Executor, as drawers, and averred that they sent notice to said Bull & Co., at Loursville, Ky., of the protest of said bill on the day they received the same, but they did not know whether said notice had been sent to them in due time or not; but they say that said Win. T. Spurrier, after receiving said notice from plaintiffs, and under the belief that due notice had not been given, acknowledged his liabilities to plaintiffs for the amount thereof, and paid $125 thereon, and promised to pay the resione.

Spurrier's Executors filed a demurrer to the petition, and an answer denying the allegations, but being heard, the Court overruled the demurrer.

And pursue their respective avocations in perfect safety from ague and bilions attacks during the sickly season, which is often to them the most valuable part of the year.

Since the Introduction of the CURE in every part of the United States, its success has been so complete and unvarying as to her fully proved these assertions in favor of its extraordinary merit.

Honding proved these are to deep the unvarying as the first of the court of its extraordinary merit.

How they declarations were made, at the date of its introduction, they seemed incredible to many, even of the most candid minds, because all the resources of science had been taxed in vain to subdne agne or bilious diseases; and what was still worse for ague sufferers, all their remedies or treatment, whether scientific or empirical, have been limited to the use of poissonous of extractive drugs, such as Arsenic, Quinine, Mercury, Salicine, &c. The effects of these are sometimes worse than the disease they subdue; and when such remedies fail, or give only temporary relief, their poissonous effects are superadded to the poor sufferer's first complaint.

On this account ague sufferers should be particularly

Defendant answered and said, he had leased the said house and lot for five years, and gave up possession to the tenant; that, at the time he leased, the house was in good repair—strong, and well-built, and not likely to fall; that the tenant covenanted to repair; that a freehet and storm injured the wall during the term of the lease, and that he was not liable, &c.

Plaintiff, demurred to the answer, and contended that defendant was, as ewner of the fee, bound to repair—that he could not shift upon his tenants, or any one else, the responsibility he was under to the public to keep his premises in repair, especially as to so substantial a part of them as the house on said lot.

Defendant insisted that "his liability to repair the premises ceased when he leased and gave up possession; that, as owner of the fee, he was not liable for the tenant's negligence or wrongful acts; that he had no right to enter the premises to repair, and if he had entered, he would have been liable to an action of trespass; that there was no case in the books that made the landlord liable for the tenant suring the lease, if the premises were in good repair at the time of leasing, and cited 4 Tenn. Reports, 31s; Taylor on Landlords and Tenants, 95; il. Black, 350; 4 Taunt, 649.

By the Court—I am satisfied the answer is good. The defendant negatives completely any liability.

fully informs his friends, and the public in general, that he will open his Dancing School at the above Hall on SATURDAY NEXT, Sept. 28th, for misses and masters, from 9 to 18 o'clock a. M., and 2 to 5 P. M. Class for gents every Monday and Wednesday evening, from 7 to 9 o'clock.

On account of ohicctions from a great number of pnplis heretofore, religious dimeutites are removed by torming two classes.

J. P. L. thinks it nnnecessary to mention all the Dances and Waltzes he will teach in his school. The great number of pupils he has taught in this city for the last ten years is the best recommendation he can offer. Notwithstanding all the Fancy Dances and Waltzes J. P. L. is acquainted with, he takes pleasure in stating that on his visit to the South he has met with his friend Pingally Detisk, from the Opera of Varis, and when here the principal Dancer of Placide's Varieties. Through his kindness J. P. L. has come in possession of the most recent Dances, viz:

Gortilza—Five-Step Waltz.

Varsovien—Hungarian Redowa.

NICHOLAS INVITES THE attention of her constomers and others to her new in invented ventile attention of her constomers and others to her new in invented ventile attention of her constomers and others to her new wigs were invented by Richard Beck, of London, and made by one of the gentlemen in my establishment, who took the highest premium for the best Wigs on exhibition at the Industrial Exhibition, London, in 1834. They are warnted not to shrink: (those who have worn Wigs know that the greatest comfort in a Wig is in one that will not shrink at all;) besides they are so close a resemblance to nature as to defy detection. And to enable gentlemen to see the effect, a large assortment is kept on hand for inspection, any of which, if approved of save the purchaser both time and trouble, as these elegant specimens of Wigs cannot be found elsewhere. Also, a splendid assortment of Ladies' Wigs, liad Wigs, biraids, and Curls, always on hand and made to order at he shortest notice.
